SPORT

ARE IN BASKETBALL FINALS

Sigma Iota Chi and Main Dormitory Teams to Meet.

The Sigma Iota Chi and Main Dormitory basketball teams will meet in the finals of the Stephens College basketball tournament some time next week. Each of these teams thus far has lost one game.

The Eta Upsilon Gamma team lost a close game to the Theta Tau Wednesday evening. The final score was 7 to 4.

The Main Dormitory five defeated the Gamma team 27 to 18 yesterday afternoon, and the Sigma Iota Chi won over the Theta Tau, 9 to 6.

AMES FOOTBALL STAR HERE

"Polly" Wallace, All-Valley Center, Attends Phi Psi Convention.

L. A. ("Polly") Wallace, star center of the Ames football team during the past season, is in Columbia at the present time attending the district convention of Phi Kappa Psi, of which he is a member.

"Polly," as he is most generally known throughout the Missouri Valley, was regarded by sport critics of the Middle West as being one of the best football players of the last season. He was the unanimous selection of the Valley coaches for the position of center on the mythical eleven of the conference and was placed by Walter Eckersall, a prominent sport writer of Chicago, on the All-American team. He was also placed on the All-Western team by numerous sport writers and coaches.

He will be best remembered to local football followers as the man who tackled "Chuck" Lewis just as he crossed the Ames goal line after making his sixty-seven yard run in the game at Ames last season.

Besides being a football player, Wallace is also a wrestler of considerable prominence, having been pronounced by Earl Caddock, famous heavy weight wrestler, as the equal of most of the heavyweight wrestlers at the present time. He was easily the star of the Ames wrestling team of the last year, having gained one fall and two decisions in the last match of the season, which was with the wrestling team of Penn State. Penn State won the match, however, gaining four decisions and falls to the Aggies' three.

In commenting on the football team of the Ames Cyclones for the season, Wallace said that the team will be superior to last year's and will be much heavier. Wallace has one more year of football at Ames, and it is safe to predict that with him in the center of the line Fulbright, Lincoln and other Tiger backs will have some difficulty gaining through the Cyclones when they meet on Rollins Field next fall.

DENIES STORY OF BETSY ROSS

Army Officer Says Tradition of Flag Is Without Historical Basis.

By United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—Do you doubt the story in our school history books which taught us that Betsy Ross designed the American flag in 1776? Louis Barecroft Runk, an attorney and major of ordinance in the reserve corps, declares that the story is a fake. Runk, in a book he has just published, entitled "The Birth of Our Flag and Flag Etiquette," says Betsy Ross' story "rests solely on her own testimony," which is absolutely uncorroborated, and the best historians today consider it without historical basis.

"It is earnestly claimed by the descendants of Betsy Ross that on or about June 1, 1776, she was waited upon at her house, 239 Arch street, Philadelphia, by General Washington and an alleged committee of the Continental Congress; that they asked her to make a flag and that she promised to try; that they showed her a drawing whose proportions she criticized and that General Washington himself altered the drawing according to her suggestion," says the book.

"Betsy was a lady of lively imaginations and short memory, as is shown by her ability to wed three times in ten years."

The book declares that Washington visited Philadelphia in 1776 for only two weeks and neither he nor the alleged Congressional committee nor its records ever mentioned such a visit to Betsy Ross. Runk, in his book, cites several other incidents in history which he says substantiate his claim.

"It is regrettable if I overthrow any childhood traditions or local pride that any may have about Betsy Ross, but my duty is to give the impartial verdict of American historians," the author says.

A Fund of Information That You Should Have

Disraeli, who for six years was prime minister of England, said: "It has been my observation that the most successful man in any undertaking, is the man who has the most information."

It doesn't require any particular information just to go out and buy something. But to buy the best of that something at a price that is satisfactory to you—that is a successful purchase. And to make successful purchases you must have information.

Advertising gives you just that kind of information. It tells you where to go in order to get the best of anything you want at a fair price. That is why it is a paying proposition for the man or woman who handles a pocket book to study advertisements in this newspaper—regularly—every day.

To those who use it properly, newspaper advertising is a source of economy and satisfaction that never runs dry. It is a watch-dog of dollars—a guarantee of satisfaction.

If you would learn the facts about the things you need to make you comfortable and happy,
